THE LIFE AND TIMES OF AARON BURR.

ABU James Panton. Fourth Edition, with Steel Portraite and Wood-cuts. Price in cloth, #1 75; haif caif, #2 75; full and Wood-cuts. Price in cloth, $1.75, hall calf, $2.75, fail.

Alson Burr was one of the most gallant soldlers of the Revolution; the most successful lawyer, perhaps, ever at the New York bar; the shrewdest of politicians, and the first of fillbusters. His life presents the extremes of honor and disgrace, weath and poverty, and affords materials for one of the most deeple is teresting and instructive biographics ever written. How well Mr. Parton has performed the work of a biographer, may be judged from the attention his book has received from the press, and the opinions expressed respecting it, as well as from the rapidity of its sale. Four editions have now been seed in less than two months, while the press of New York City alone has devoted more than forty columns to reviews of and discussions arising from it. The following short extracts indicate the quality of the book:

From The New York Tribane.

From The New York Tribane, nee not 'founded in fact,' but fact itself—the tr "It is a remance not founded in fact, but fact itself—the trace who, in his worst estate, was hardly less than archargel rained. The manner in which Mr. Parton has discharged the dating of a Bographer in the compesition of this work demands a cordial and emphatic rec santism. Every page bears the marks of indestingable labor. It was no small chaos of material which he undertook to reduce to historic order, and he has performed his task with the zeal of an antiquary and the taste of an artist."

From The Roston Post.

"A more interesting, may fascinating volume than the cree in task with the real of an antiquary and the taste of an artist."

"A more interesting, nay, fascinating volume than the one in hand, we have rarely met with. "Not until we had read this volume had we the slightest idea of Mr. Parton's shifty, either as a compiler or historian. "Not only is the Life and Times of Aaron Burr singularly void of that here worship which is usually so disgusting an attendant upon biographers, but the tragic story is told with the power and simplicity of a genuine post. "It is impossible not to read after one has begin." From The North American Review.

"It ought to be read by every American who would know the history of his own country."

From the "Lounger" in Harper's Weekly.

"Mr. Parton has written one of the most fascinating of biographics—the life of Aaron Burr. It is a poor compliment to say that this life is as interesting as a novel; but it would be the highest praise of a novel to say that it had as much substance, progress, interest and moral as this biography. The reader gets some idea of the personal attraction of the man in the very singu-

From the Hon R. B. Taney, Chief Justice of the United States.
"It is a work of much value and well executed. The heads under which the different Acts of Congress are arranged, are well chosen and appropriate; and what is still more important, the Index, so far as I have been able to examine it, is complete. The book has evidently been prepared with much care and judgment, and will, I doubt not be very acceptable to the public."

From the Hon, R. C. Grier, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States.

"The work does honor not only to the learning and industry of the suther, but to the publishers for the very handsome manner in which it is executed. Those who prefer to have the statutes in a digested farm will find it a very variable book."

From the Hon, Isaac F. Redfield, Chief Justice of Vermont.

"I exteem it a most excellent work of the class."

New York, Dec. 22, 1837.

To The Hon. Edward Everety—Sir: The fame of your Address in ald of the "Provident Association," at Boston, Easterable the women of New-York; and observing, with pleasure, that you are to visit our city on the 21st of January, to repeat your discourse on the "Character of Washington," we-a self-constituted Committee of Ladies—venture to ask you to double the obligations of our community, by repeating, during your stay, your late Charity Address, for the benefit of a new and universally approved charity, called into existence by the distress of the present season—the "Woman's Protective Emigration Society," the Constitution of which we transmit you. Having followed with admiration your extraordinary career of public speech in behalf of the purchase of Mt. Vermon, by the ladies of Virginia, and bestowed a warmer feeling upon the patriotism which has animated these labors—labors which, estimated by their effects, whether in money, nationality or delight, will have a high historic appreciation—we have chyoged a fresh surprise in learning that you were tasking your heart and lips with new offices of benevolerable charities, as well as for the general thrift and virtue which narrows the need of them, is compelled by the extraordinary wants of its poor, to draw upon your powers of awakening the public attention, what might be expected of New York, the gateway of nations and the aline-house of both beniepheres, but that the urgency of its necessities, at a season like this, would banish every scrupie in begging your choquent tongue to pread the cause of the suffering here?

The women of Virginia have successfully invoked your sid in the cause of patriotism—may not the women of New-York hope for an equal success in asking it in behalf of humanity! Will not you, who are striving to save to the country a till more precious and more imperied possession—the lives and the virtue of our suffering sisters—the ex New-York, Dec. 22, 1857. My Dear Ladies: I have this day received your favor of the 2d inst., inviting me to repeat for the benefit of the "Woman's "Protective Emigration Society of New-York," the address lately delivered by me for the benefit of the "Boston Provident Association." The 2d of February, and the Academy of Music, if convenient to you, will sait me as the time and place for the delivery of the address.

With enterfol schemic temperature of the delivery of the address.
With grateful acknowledgment of the flattering terms in which your invitation is expressed, I remain, my dear Ladies,
Your obliged and obedient servant.
